Aims and Scope

Dynamics, vibration and control are most active scientific frontiers in sciences and technology in recent years, and ICDVC-2006 is devoted to these important research areas.

The aim of ICDVC-2006 is to bring together leading scientists of the international dynamics, vibration and control communities, both theoreticians and experimentalists, to present original research work of very high quality. The themes of the conference are intended to be broad enough so as to cover most of the directions in dynamics, vibration and control, promoting wide interactions among different academic disciplines. Mathematical theory, numerical simulation, physical experiments, engineering design, information technique, biological and financial studies, and their various applications are included in the main program of the conference. The conference also provides an excellent opportunity to researchers from different fields of science and engineering, both experts and new comers, for sharing ideas, experience and progress, and exploring new directions and problems among specialists in these fascinating areas of science and technology in the 21st century.
