

Dr CHEUNG Kwok Wai Keith (1990 BEng, 1994 MScEE, 2002 PhD)

I am currently an Associate Professor at the School of Communication, The Hang Seng University of Hong Kong (HSUHK). I received my BEng, MSc and PhD degrees from CityU EE in 1990, 1994 and 2001. Constant "learning and exploring new things" is my believing in the current fast moving era, particularly in the technological fields.

Although the undergraduate study at CityU EE had provided me a strong foundation in telecommunication, I still pursued part-time MSc study with a strong will to strengthen my knowledge and skills during working at Hong Kong Telecom as an engineer.

CityU EE provided an excellent environment for self-development and exploration during my PhD research study. I was given great freedom in exploring different areas. The constant discussion with my friends in the research lab and the guidance from my advisor had valuable contribution towards my growth.

Taking advantage of the availability of various facilities in the lab, I acquired practical skills and specialized knowledge in network and system administration for my own interest. Actually that was not relevant to my research. Later, I found that definitely helped my teaching in Department of Computer Science, Chu Hai College of Higher Education.

Now, I am teaching in HSUHK and still learning and exploring new areas.
